For 29 years, Phil Stone sat at the window of the television sports world calling play-by-play of NFL Football and Major League Baseball for NBC Sports and a myriad of other networks. He was the Voice of the Pac-10 for Prime Ticket Network and did play-by-play for the old Southwest Conference on Raycom Sports. Phil was also selected to host golf and almost every Olympic sport there is for ESPN.

In July 2008 Phil moved cross-country to Tennessee to join CBMC, as National Director of Broadcast Production and Marketing. To be called by God sometimes means trusting Him enough to leave family, friends and a lifestyle you've become accustomed to behind! "For me, hearing God's call was a process, not an event. I was waiting for a bolt of lightning and instead it came in the form of a gentle rain."

Phil spends considerable time overseeing and designing the plethora of projects that hit his desk at the CBMC Support Center in Chattanooga, Tennessee. He is intensely focused on learning from men in the marketplace what our ministry can improve upon in the area broadcast production and marketing.

When he is not working, he enjoys kayaking, fishing, and golfing. Growing up in Columbus, Ohio, Phil is a devoted Buckeye fan. He has two grown children, Brent and Lindsay, and a pair of maniac Chihuahuas.
